MOUNTAIN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Newspaper Men of Eastern Kentucky Perfect an Organization, Having in View the Interests of Their Profession and the Permanent Good of the People.

Proceedings of the First Meeting.

[Jackson Times.]

Jackson had the privilege of entertaining, last Monday, the editors and newspaper workers of the Mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Out of the conference then had was born the Mountain Press Association, an organization destined to become the greatest moving factor in the further progress of the district covered by the thirty-two newspapers of the same.

Monday noon the newspaper men began to arrive and by evening the number had swelled until the assemblage convened for business was of good proportions and, represented, as one man, an enthusiasm calculated to inspire great confidence in the unqualified success of the movement.

Full proceedings of the business sessions are noted below.

In the evening occurred the banquet to visiting newspaper men and invited guests. The affair was made brilliant by the presence of many ladies, and the menu, provided by mine host Hammons of the Imperial Hotel, added lustre upon his well known abilities as a caterer and good fellow.

Grouped about the board were representatives of the press, law, pulpit, banking and others of the leading professions and businesses.

of R. C. Musick, as after, introduced the speaker, and eloquence flowed freely until the morning.

The Commercial Club of Jackson, that live body of hustling business men who can always be depended upon to do the proper thing, are to be credited with paying the financial way for the handsome entertainment of the town's guests. They have the thanks of every newspaper man in the mountain district.

Out of the meeting untold good will result to the press and public.

The publishers of Eastern Kentucky met at the M. E. Church, Jackson, Ky., at 2 o'clock p. m., February 27, 1911, for the purpose of organizing the Mountain Press Association.

On motion and by vote H. H. Gibson, of the Breathitt County News, was elected temporary Chairman, and L. T. Hovernal, of the Jackson Times, temporary Secretary.

The temporary organization being perfected, it was moved by R. C. Musick, of the Jackson Times:

"That it be the sense of this meeting that an organization of the publishers and printers of the Mountains of Eastern Kentucky be effected for the purpose of bringing said publishers and printers into closer relations with each other and to better the conditions of the newspapers of that section; that said organization be known as the Mountain Press Association, and the territory to be covered by said organization shall be that part of the State known as the Mountain Counties of Kentucky; and for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization and preparing a constitution and by-laws, a committee of six be appointed to draft a constitution and bylaws."

Upon vote, said resolution was adopted and the following committee appointed: Emin Elam, of the Olio, Hazel Green; R. C. Musick, William Carter and L. T. Hovernal, of the Jackson Times; H. H. Gibson and M. H. Holiday, of the Breathitt County News.

At 8:30 p. m. the meeting reassembled in the dining room of the Imperial Hotel. On motion, H. H. Gibson, of the Breathitt County News, was elected President of the Mountain Press Association, Emin Elam, of the Olio, Hazel Green, Vice-President, and Sam Hurst, of the Beattyville Enterprise, Secretary.

Upon motion the following resolutions were adopted and the secretary was instructed to see that copies of same were wired to the Senators of Kentucky at Washington:

Resolved, By the Mountain Press Association in mid-winter meeting assembled at Jackson, Ky., February 27, 1911: That we hereby express our unqualified opposition to the present plan of the Federal Postoffice Department in letting a contract to a private concern for the exclusive printing of stamped envelopes. We learn with astonishment of the reported effort of the National administration to strangle the Nelson-Touville bill in the Senate Postoffice committee, which we prefer to believe impossible. We protest against this species of paternalism and against this plan of taking from the newspaper publishers and printers, business which legitimately belongs to them, and we hereby urge the Senators from Kentucky as well as the President of the United States and the Postmaster General to assist in securing a favorable report on this bill, having assurance that it will easily pass the Senate once it is reported by the committee.

We hereby instruct the Secretary of the Association to send a copy of this resolutions, signed by the President and Secretary, to the President of the United States, to the Postmaster General and to Senators Paynter and Bradley.

The following resolutions were offered, and adopted by unanimous vote:

Resolved, That we recommend to the next General Assembly of Kentucky that a thorough course in Journalism be added to and made part of the curriculum of the Kentucky State University;

Resolved, That the Mountain Press Association invites the Kentucky Press Association to hold its mid-summer meeting in the town of Jackson;

Resolved, That we tender the Jackson Commercial Club our heartfelt thanks for the splendid manner in which it entertained the Mountain Press Association;

Resolved, That we extend our thanks to J. H. Hammons, proprietor of the Imperial Hotel for the many courtesies shown the members of the Association, and the elegant banquet furnished;

Resolved, That copies of these proceedings be furnished all the papers in Eastern Kentucky.

W. W. Perry, of the Winchester Sun-Sentinel, and C. S. Clark, of the Western Newspaper Union, Cincinnati, were made honorary members.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the Executive Committee, consisting of Emin Elam, of the Olio, Hazel Green; R. C. Musick, William Carter and L. T. Hovernal, of the Jackson Times, and H. H. Gibson and M. H. Holiday, of the Breathitt County News.

SAM DAVIS.

When the Lord calls up earth's heroes

To stand before his face,

O, many a name unknown to fame

Shall rise from that high place!

And out of a grave in the South-land,

At the just God's call and beck,

Shall one man rise with fearless eyes

And a rope about his neck.

For men have swung from gallows

Whose souls were white as snow.

Not how they die nor where, but why,

Is what God's records show. And on that mighty ledger Is writ Sam Davis' name— For honor's sake he would not make A compromise with shame.

The great world lay before him, For he was in his youth. With love of life young hearts are rife,

But better he loved truth. He fought for his convictions,

And when they stood at bay He would not flinch or stir one inch

From honor's narrow way. They offered life and freedom

If he would speak the word; In silent pride he gazed aside

As one who had not heard. The argued, pleaded, threatened—

It was but wasted breath. "Let come what must, I keep my trust,"

He said, and laughed at death. He would not sell his manhood

To purchase priceless hope; Where kings drag down a name

And crown He dignified a rope. Ah, grave! where was your triumph?

Ah, death where was your sting? He showed you how a man could bow

To doom and stay a king. And God, who loves the loyal

Because they are like him, I doubt not yet that soul shall set

Among his cherubim. O Southland! bring your laurels;

O North! add your wreath. O North! Let glory claim the hero's name,

And tell the world his worth. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Hunger a Lost Feeling.

Civilized human beings do most of their eating through habit, and it is a bad habit. Savages, on whom the world is apt to eat comes only as the result of direct effort, do it better and manage to get along without physicians. We are cursed by having our vitals too close at hand.

"A prolific cause of chronic indigestion," says the Hygiene Gazette, "is eating from habit, and simply because it is meal time and others are eating." To eat when not hungry is to eat without relish, and food taken without relish is worse than wasted.

The aborigine who had to stalk and kill his deer before breakfast suffered none of the modern disorders of the stomach. No doubt he went hungry many a time, but to be hungry is far better than to be "food drunk," a term invented by Edison, and fitly to be applied to most of us most of the time.

That good old feeling called hunger is in a fair way to fade into mere tradition. The average man perhaps can not say that he has really felt that feeling once in a dozen years.

To be sure, when a meal is delayed beyond the customary time, habit protests in an uneasy feeling which is erroneously supposed to be hunger. But the genuine, sharp, knowing demand of the system for food most of us left behind with our childhood—Ex.

NOVEL COOKING UTENSIL.

Five Dishes Can Be Cooked at Once Over One Gas Burner.

A cooking utensil that has many things to recommend it has been invented by an Ohio woman. Its chief merit is that it will cook five things at once over one burner of a gas stove, thereby saving space, trouble and fuel. A circular platter has five pans arranged around a handle in the center and the lids have attachments, so that they can either be opened on a hinge and dropped back again or can be held open indefinitely. Usually, only one thing can be cooked over one burner at a time, and, usually, too, cooking pots and pans are unnecessarily large for small families. All the food that a small family of two or three persons requires can be contained in the pans, and if the dishes require different lengths of time on the range, they can be put on or taken off separately. As will readily be seen, this utensil will be especially convenient in flats.—Ex.

Offending Black Bottle.

A church member in a lonely district of Saskatchewan absented himself from services some months ago, being approached on the subject he said he was sorry, but it was impossible to attend any more. He was pressed to give reasons, and at length said it was owing to the bad conduct of the superintending clergyman and catechist.

He and others had witnessed them drinking when driving round on their visits. They had passed a black bottle from hand to hand. It was impossible to attend the ministry of such men. Inquiries proved that the offending "bottle" was a pair of field glasses with which the drivers surveyed the surrounding country and tried to locate the various churches, shacks and trails.—Sunday at Home.

"Always the Woman."

His independence made him proud. He scoffed at double-breasted coats;

Men who to fashion's dictates bowed He likened to a flock of goats

That followed where their leader went, And never knew what freedom meant.

He sneered at men and called them fools, Because they wore clothes a la mode;

He laughed at fashion's foolish rules And went about declaring that A fool was under each stiff hat

He boasted that he didn't care What fashion said was right or wrong;

He spurned the razor, and his hair Was ragged and uncombed and long;

The linen collar he eschewed As something only for a dude.

A woman smirked at him one day, And said a silly word or two;

He put his loose old clothes away, And dressed in fine ones that were new; Then got his hair cut and a shave; And fashion had another slave. —Anonymous.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Democratic State Executive Committee in session at Louisville March 3rd, changed the date of the State Primary from May 27 to July 1st.

"Wild Bill" Hatfield, said to be a Kentucky feudist of the Hatfield-McCoy crowd, shot and killed a Mexican rebel comrade at Mexicali on the night of February 23rd.

Hatfield is an American recruit in Gen. Lavaya's rebel army. It is feared the shooting of Francisco by Hatfield will cause trouble between the American and Mexican members of the rebel army.

Judge Allie W. Young, when asked for a statement as to whether he would enter the race for Governor, gave out the following:

"While I would like to be Governor I will not be a candidate as long as Senator James B. McCreary is in the race. I say this so that my friends who are for McCreary may not be embarrassed."

The editor sat in his office when all but him had fled, and he wished that every last dead beat was in his grave—stone dead. His mind then wandered far away to the time when he should die, and his royal editorial soul go scooting to the sky; when he'd roam the fields of Paradise and sail o'er Jasper seas and all things glorious would combine his every sense to please. He thought then how he'd look across the great gulf dark and drear, that yawn between his happy soul and those who swindled here, and when for water they would call, and in agony they'd caper, he'd shout to them: "Just quench your thirst with the due that's on your paper."—Exchange.

Too Much Gravity a Bad Sign. There is a false gravity which is a very ill symptom; and it may be said that as rivers which run very slowly have always the most mud at the bottom, so a solid stiffness in the constant course of a man's life is a sign of a thick bed of mud at the bottom of his brain.—Baville.

King's Annual Gift to Workhouse. Every year a tree is dug from the king's Windsor estate and presented to the local workhouse by his majesty. Then, garishly decorated with flags, it is hung with drums, trumpets, bells and rays of every conceivable description for distribution among the able-bodied of the workhouse.

Measles' Happy Hunting Grounds. A visitor to the canal zone of Panama saw have the privilege of an introduction to not less than 50 species of mosquitoes, 30 of them found nowhere else. Fortunately they do not all bite and the contagion of yellow fever is carried by only one of them.

Solemnity and Stupidity. Solemnness, solemnity, ponderosity—with or without a big beard—do not necessarily indicate the possession of wisdom and talent. On the contrary, they may simply spell stupidity, with a capital S.

Relief for Cough. To prevent a dry tickling cough when lying down, rub the nostrils well with vasoline or any pure grease. It will save the patient much anxiety and broken rest.

Beautiful Possibility. One day small Elmer observed five funerals pass the house. After the last one had passed he said: "Mamma, if we don't hurry up and die heaven will be so crowded we can't get in."

Real Punishment for Speeder. Motorists will learn with interest of the case of a Hyderabad notable whose car almost came into collision with that of the Nizam. The notable was fined $300 by the Nizam, and all his motorcars were confiscated.

Only One Death in Family in 30 Years. This was a notable day in the affairs of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Kulp of this city, for it was just 30 years since they were married. To-day's event was attended by the six children and 11 grandchildren, their families and other relatives. There has been but one death in this family, that of a grandchild, which occurred 26 years ago.—Lock Haven Correspondence, Philadelphia Press.

Photographer's Heavy Loss. Fire in a Chicago barn has ruined a collection of 15,000 negatives of newsboys, with which the owner won several gold medals. The owner had spent many years gathering the newsboy negatives, the types being those of newsboys of almost every country in the world.

Beauty in Blood Deep. Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lax liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets—beauty for ten cents. All drug stores, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Real Pessimistic Post. "A pessimist that's a post," says the Philosopher of Folly, "is a man who is sure bad luck is coming, and then is surprised and shocked when it comes."

As to Friends. A friend may be often found and lost, but an old friend can never be found, and nature has provided that he cannot easily be lost.—Samuel Johnson.

The Stumbling Block. "I'd tell my friends frankly of all my faults," says the Philosopher of Folly, "but for one thing. They'd believe what I told 'em."

Curious Trait. Some women are willing to wear almost nothing on the stage so that they may appear in fine clothes off the stage.

Modern Mohammedanism. When a delegation of Mohammedans called on Dr. Lueger, the mayor of Vienna, a few days ago, to ask that the city place theirs among the recognized faiths, the mayor expressed himself as being delighted to do so in reporting the interview, a Vienna paper says: "As to difficulties regarding polygamy, Dr. Lueger thought that means could easily be found to overcome them." The delegation also said that the people of their faith had ceased to live strictly up to the old law, which made a mosque wholly sacred the building of which any but Mohammedan money had been used. It was related that at Basajulka there was a mosque which had been reared by Christians, and that the most notable treasure of the Foca Mosque was a carpet, the gift of the late Crown Prince Rudolph.

Found Immense Mountain Chain. In describing his latest journey in Tibet, ended during the present year, Dr. Sven Hedin says that the greatest result achieved is the discovery of a continuous mountain chain, 1,000 miles long, stretching east and west, and which, taken as a whole, is the most massive range on the crust of the earth. Its average height above sea level is greater than that of the Alps, although its peaks are from 4,000 to 5,000 feet lower than Mount Everest. Its passes average 10,000 feet higher than those of the Himalayas. The eastern and western parts of this range were known before, but the central and highest part in Bonan, was unexplored, previously to Dr. Hedin's visit. He crossed ten passes in the range.—Youth's Companion.

Singer's Life Not Hard One. "If I had to coddle myself, stay in the house all day, and never speak whenever I was to sing in the evening, I would give up singing." Allen C. Hinkley, the big, broad-shouldered young American basso of the Metropolitan Opera house, New York, remarked recently. "I believe it is the singer's life that is hard, not merely on the days on which one sings, that point. I try to keep myself always in good physical and vocal condition, and one day is about the same as another—that is all there is to it. I should not play a game of golf, for instance, before singing in the evening."

Mr. Hinkley is a champion golf player—"but if the day is fine, I take a long walk in the park, and get my mind off myself."

Alaskan Copper for Future. Alaska gives promise of becoming in time a large producer of copper. The Bonanza mine in Montana has an ore body 300 feet wide, which was cut at a depth of 225 feet by a cross-cut tunnel, in which there is 130 feet of ore averaging 25 per cent. copper, the middle 35 feet being almost pure copper—glance running from 60 to 70 per cent. of copper and 35 ounces of silver a ton. This is probably one of the greatest showings of copper in North America, but the property is over 100 miles from railroad transportation, so that it will be years before this copper can possibly come on the market.

The Secretaries of State. Mr. Knox will be our fourth monosyllabic secretary of state since 1897. He succeeds Root, who succeeded Hay, who succeeded Day. The earlier monosyllabic secretaries of state were Smith, Clay, Cass, Black, Fish and Blaine. Only one secretary of state—Frelinghuysen—had a four-syllable name. There are seven three-syllable names in the list and 31 two-syllable names.

Filled With Curiosity.

The man was standing behind a tree in front of an apartment house in a cross street when the cop on that beat came pounding along on the sidewalk. It was close to midnight, and naturally the cop stopped and looked at the man standing behind the tree.

"Howdy," says the cop, by way of opening conversation.

"You're another," replied the man good naturedly.

"Whut'uh doin'—waitin' for somebody?" inquired the brave policeman.

"Nope."

"Just standin' there, hey?"

"You've hit it."

"Live near here, do you?"

"Right in there," says the citizen, jerking his thumb in the direction of the apartment house he was standing in front of.
